I	Profile of the selected Food Industries	64
II	Profile of employees engaged in selected industries	65
III	Demographic Profile of the selected food handlers (n=200)	66-67
IV	Basic Knowledge of the selected food handlers	73
V	Availability of Food Storage facilities in the selected food industries	76
VI	Food preparation and handling practices	78
VII	Cleaning and waste disposal	79
VIII	Availabilities of Infrastructure	81
IX	Personal Hygiene of the selected food handlers	83
X	Pre and Post Swab tests	86
XI	Change in Swab Test	87
XII	Total bacterial count present on the surface of a tomato	88
XIII	Change in Microbiological Analysis	89
XIV	Shelf life study of Jam	90
XV	Shelf life study of Ketchup	92
XVI	Shelf life study of Pickle	94
XVII	Change in Total Bacterial Count	96
XVIII	Change in Total Fungal Count	96
XIX	Forms of fruits and vegetables products handled by food handlers.	97
XX	Response of food handlers on knowledge related to food safety	99-100
XXI	Statistical Analysis of knowledge related to Food Safety	101
XXII	Response of food handlers to attitude related to food safety	101-102
XXIII	Statistical Analysis of attitude related to Food Safety	103
XXIV	Response of food handlers to practice related to food safety	104-105

XXV	Statistical Analysis of practices related to Food Safety	106
XXVI	Response of food handlers to knowledge related on HACCP	106-107
XXVII	Statistical Analysis of knowledge related to HACCP	108
XXVIII	Responses of food handlers to attitude related on HACCP	109-110
XXIX	Statistical Analysis of attitude related on HACCP	111
XXX	Response of food handlers to practice related on HACCP	111-112
XXXI	Statistical Analysis of practices related on HACCP	113
XXXII	Response of food handlers to knowledge related to cross contamination of foods	114-115
XXXIII	Statistical Analysis of knowledge related to cross contamination of foods	115
XXIV	Response of food handlers to attitude related to cross contamination of foods	116-117
XXXV	Statistical Analysis of attitude related to cross contamination of foods	118
XXXVI	Response of food handlers to practice related to cross contamination of foods	118-119
XXXVII	Statistical Analysis of practices related to Cross Contamination	120
XXXVIII	Response of food handlers to knowledge related to Good Handling Practices	121-122
XXXIX	Statistical Analysis of knowledge related to good handling practices	123
XXXX	Response of food handlers to attitude related to good handling practices	123-124
XXXXI	Statistical Analysis of attitude related to good handling practices	125
XXXXII	Response of food handlers to practice related to good handling practices	125-126
XXXXIII	Statistical Analysis of practices related to good handling practices	127
XXXXIV	Response of food handlers to knowledge related to personal hygiene	128-129

XXXXV	Statistical Analysis of knowledge related to personal hygiene	130
XXXXVI	Response of food handlers to attitude related to personal hygiene	130-131
XXXXVII	Statistical Analysis of attitude related to personal hygiene	132
XXXXVIII	Response of food handlers to practice related to personal hygiene	133-134
XXXXIX	Statistical Analysis of practices related to personal hygiene	134
XXXXX	Response of food handlers to knowledge related on infrastructural facilities	135-136
XXXXXI	Statistical Analysis of knowledge related to infrastructural facilities	137
XXXXXII	Response of food handlers to attitude related to infrastructural facilities	138-139
XXXXXIII	Statistical Analysis of attitude related to infrastructural facilities	140
XXXXXIV	Response of food handlers to practice related to infrastructural facilities	140-142
XXXXXV	Statistical Analysis of practices related to infrastructural facilities	143
XXXXXVI	Response of food handlers to knowledge related to packaging, labelling and transportation	144-145
XXXXXVII	Statistical Analysis of knowledge related to packaging, labelling and transportation	146
XXXXXVIII	Response of food handlers to attitude related to packaging, labelling and transportation	146-148
XXXXXIX	Statistical Analysis of attitude related to packaging, labelling and transportation	149-150
XXXXXX	Response of food handlers to practice related to packaging, labelling and transportation	151
XXXXXXI	Statistical Analysis of practices related to packaging, labelling and transportation	152
XXXXXXII	Overall mean per cent score of the food handlers	153
